When Christianity Is UnAmerican

Sunday, 24 February 2008 13:17 -

There is a growing chasm between the values of America's founders and the values of the theocratic Christian right, who claim that their version of authoritarianism is a more authentic interpretation of American values than the Enlightenment values so cherished by our nation's forebears.

More...