

We note now and then in these very pages mention that a journalist has dared ask about some such subject as the deportation of 'the dancing Israelis', or of Dov Zakheim's implication in 'the 2.3 trillion missing from the Pentagon defense funds', only to have been told that such questions are 'forbidden', otherwise meeting a persistent hail of flak, which only indicates the same thing and amounts to the same answer.

But 'forbidden', are they now? 'Forbidden', eh? Ultimately by whom?

More...