

Ron Fournier, a former White House correspondent, national political writer and online political editor for The Associated Press, has been named chief of the AP's Washington bureau.

TVNL Comment: Why is the image on the AP press release that of military personnel?

More...